Mayor Grant's Investigation Pans Out Rich.

The Story of the Big Corruption Fund Again Related.

The Mayor Admits Giving $10,000 to Little Flossie Croker.

Gotham's Executive Came Near Being Implicated in the Famous Boodle Alderman Cases Some Years Ago,

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, May 3.-[By the As sociated Press.] The Senate committee, of which Fassett is chairman, sat again today to hear further developments concerning the workings of city departments.

As it was known that Mayor Grant would be a witness to exculpate himself from the charges of McCann, the committee room was filled to the doors. Grant was present with Bourke Cochran, his counsel. Fassett and other members of the committee were or hand early. McCann was again put on the stand and cross-examined. He retold the story about furnishing supplies to the family of his brother-in-law, Croker. When questioned as to the date when Croker came to him with $180,000, witness said he could not tell the precise date. He was not surprised at Croker's having $180,000 with him, as Croker's having $180,000 with him, as there was plenty of money at that time among people connected with the Board of Aldermen. Croker said to him that there were two Aldermen that he wanted to reach, and Tom Adams knew them. Croker subsequently said he had seen these two aldermen, and understood everything was satisfactory.

"I knew," said he, "somebody had been seen."

"Who were those Aldermen?"
"Pierson and Wendell." (Sensation).

Witness said he had been on the best of terms with Croker until Mayor Grant came between them. Witness

"Croker has been misled by his advisers, men who hold high positions in this city. These are the men who have driven him from bome and family. I refer to Grant. I think it is a diagrace to this city that a manifice Grant should be its Mayor."

Witness said John B. Halloran told him the $180,000 had been returned to those who contributed it on New Years. Witness said he could make charges which he did not care to put forward voluntarily at present, and that the less those gentlemen have to say the better for themselves. When pressed, he admitted having a conversation with Grant about his connection with the Broadway bribery in 1884.

Mayor Grant here arose and said he wanted McCann to withhold nothing he knew concerning him.

Witness then told of the day when he, Grant and Alderman Mooney had been to a lawyer's officer together, and Grant, referring to the Broadway Railroad bribery and his obligations to Croker, said: "If it had not been for his advice I'd have been in that deal with the other fellows," meaning, the witness explained, the Aldermen who accepted bribes. Grant, he said, subsequently repeated the same thing in the presence of Mrs. McCann and Mrs. Croker.

Senator McNaughton asked witness a number of questions, presumably in explanation of his testimony, but no one, except himself, McCann and the Ocean to Ocean. nator heard either the questions

Mayor Grant further stated that he had no personal knowledge of what was done with the money he gave Flossie. He did not know it had been used to pay off a mortgage.

Senator Fassett questioned the Mayor about his candidacy for the Mayoralty, and was told he was not assessed by Tammany Hall. He contributed about fifteen hundred dollars, and this was to the printing fund for local officers. Fassett questioned the Mayor about his letters to the president of the Senate. Choate objected, and it was argued that the letters had been referred to the committee.

Cochran, on behalf of the Mayor, here said he would withdraw any intimation that the committee or its counsel had been a party to a conspiracy against the Mayor's character. There had been such a conspiracy, but they would entirely exonerate the committee.

In reply to a final question the Mayor said he had never influenced the Park Commissioners to refuse to renew McCann's lease.

WAS THE MURDERER. The Los Angeles Report of His Connection With the Assassination Correborated by Two Witnesses.

By Telegraph to The Times. LITTLE ROCK (Ark.), May 3.—[By the Associated Press.] The proceedings before the Clayton-Breckinridge investigation committee today were very sensational. James Sater, the man supposed to have discovered the murderer of Clayton, told about the same story, impli-cating Thomas Hooper as the murderer, that was contained in the report telegraphed from Los Angeles. Tonight James Hooper corroborated much of the evidence given by Sater. During Mrs. Hooper's examination she denied ever having heard or met

VILLARD'S VISION.

Senator heard either the questions or the answers.

In the afternoon session the courtroom was more thronged than in the morning. Ex-Mayor Edson said so far as he knew Grant was not in 1884 a candidate for Commissioner of Public Works, and had never spoken to witness about the matter.

Then Mayor Grant was called. He denied positively any knowledge of an agreement by which Croker was to receive any sum per barrel on cement if he (Grant) was appointed a commissioner of public works. He denied that he ever told any one that if it had not been for Croker he (Grant) would have taken his share of the Broadway railroad boodle. He knew nothing about the $180,000 McCann had spoken of. He had never been a candidate for Commissioner of Public Works; had never contributed to or had knowledge of any fund to secure any one's appointment to that office.

How Berliners Regard the May-day Fiasco.

German Merchants and Manufacturers to Pool Their Issues.

Sensational Version of the Retirement of Prince Bismarck.

Minister Pheips Makes Diplomatio Use of Buffalo Bill's "Wi West" Show in the German Capital.

By Telegraph to The Times. BERLIN, May 8 .- [Copright, 1890, by the New York Associated Press.] The first prominent result of the May day agitation has been a formidable movement among manufacturers, metchants, mine owners and those em ploying large number of hands to pron the formation of the German union against strikes. The idea had its or igin in communications that passed be-tween merchants' and manufacturers' associations here, and kindred or zations in other places regarding May day demonstration at the time when the celebration threatened to when the celebration threatened to paralyze the trade. This plan has been carried out and a league will be formed, covering Germany with a metwork of employer's associations. The declared aim of the scheme is united cooperation against wanton strikes, but there will be an easy and inevitable transition to co-peration against workers' claims in easy and inevitable transition to cooperation against workers' claims in general. Speakers at Chemnitz, reflecting the opinion of a majority of employers, hailed the May day flasso as a victory of masters over men. Most of the newspapers similarly draw the conclusion that the employers, if working in unison, can defeat the utmost efforts of the malcontent workmen.

ANOTHER STORY ABOUT BISMARCK.
The Hamburger Nachrichten gives new and startling phase to the s history of Bismarck's retirement by stating as a positive fact that the Emperor's mind was prejudiced by enemies, who influenced him to believe the Prince took such large doses of morphine that he often lost the power of connected thought. The Emperor summoned Dr. Schwenninger regarding Bismarck's condition. Bismarck resented the inquiries put to his doctor, although the answers received by the Emperor convinced him that the reports were groundless. At the same time interested persons busied themselves with creating in the Chancellor's mind the impression that the Emperor had resolved to get rid of him as any price. Manipulators of the intrigue in the mean time kept assuring the Emperor that Bismarck had tinally resolved to resign. The article indicates a desire on the part of Bismarch to renew close relations with the Emperor. history of Bismarck's retirement by

That Interesting De Turk Case Goes on Again.

AS USUAL, WITH CLOSED DOORS

De Turk's Wealth and Conduc quired into - Wulff Acgling Hogs.

The De Turk divorce case was re sumed again before Judge McKinley yesterday morning, and occupied his attention during the day. The doors were again closed, and the bailiff kept vigilant watch to see that no curious person or persons came within earshot of the courtroom.

The case is being most stubbornly and the cross-examination of witnesses is an ordeal which some of them are not likely soon to forget.

Although every effort is made to keep the testimony, from leaking out. The Times is able to give all that is proper to be given, as upon former days of the trial.

There were only two witnesses examined yesterday, the case still being with the plaintiff. Mr. de Turk was on the stand all the morning, and was put through a rigid examination by Mr. White in regard to his property. put through a rigid examination by Mr. White in regard to his property. He was questioned closely about the amount of his wealth, both at the pres-ent time and during the time of his married life with Mrs. de Turk. He married life with Mrs. de Turk. He said in regard to his resources during the past, since his marriage with Mrs. de Turk, that at one time he had between eighty-five and ninety-five thousand dollars in bank. A number of questions were asked him in regard to the block at the corner of Broadway and First street, which was sold by him to the Board of Trade, and he gave the status of that transaction, together with the payments made upon the property since the sale was consummated. From his testimony it was apparent that Mr. de Turk is worth over one hundred thousand dollars. He reiterated the statements summated. From his testimony it was apparent that Mr. de Turk is worth over one hundred thousand dolars. He reiterated the statements made before by him that he had always been very lavish toward his wife, and supplied her with all the money she needed. The object of the cross-examination was an attempt to fix the amount of community property in the estate of the plaintiff.

At the afternoon session the defense developed a portion of its case by the examination of a young man named Gus Lightfoot, who had once occupied a room at De Turk's house. He was put on out of the regular order. His testimony was somewhat sensational its character and he brought in the name of a girl named Dinnie Foster in a manner not at all complimentary to either himself, the girl or the plaintiff. He swore that Mr. de Turk employed Miss Foster in his house as a servant but that he had illied relations with her, and that the witness was made a sort of blind by which to avert suspleion from Mr. de Turk. This all took place, he said, while Mr. and Mrs. de Turk were living together.

Mr. dags put the witness though a severe cross-examination, in which it daveloped that during the time has severe or the day, and it will be resumed again Monday after mother.

BOLD FRAUD.

A Swindle Not Down in the Louisiana Calendar.

GREENEWALD "DONE" FOR $840

His Coupon at a Great Sacrifice.

The Louisiana lottery business in this city has taken a new turn, and the sharpers have undertaken to seeded to a certain extent. At the last drawing, which occurred about the middle of last month, ticket No. 71,088 drew the $25,000 prize. This ticket had been cut up into 20 parts, and several were sold on this coast, as the dealers were notified when the drawing was made public.

Abo ut ten days after the drawing a short, heavy-set young man with a smooth face walked into Greenewald's cigar store, on the corner of Temple and Spring streets. He was well dressed and had the outward appearance of being a gentleman. The elder Greenewald happened to be out, but the young man was in charge of the store, and the stranger stated that he had drawn a prize in the Louisians

THE ANNEX.

THE ANNEX.

"I hold one-twentieth of ticket No. 71.088, which entitles me to $1250." said he, "but I have just received a dispatch calling me away, and I can't wait to have it sent to New Orleans for collection. If you will cash it for me you can have it for $1000." "Where did you buy it?" asked young Greenewald.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the officers and board of directors of the ladies' annex of the Chamber of Commerce met in the secretary's room. The meeting was called for the purpose of appointing special committees, and resulted as follows:

Mr. Greenewald sent the ticket to New Orleans for collection and was congratulating himself after the most approved style of a man who thinks he has made a good trade, but his happy smiles were destined to be turned to tears, for one fine morning last week he was thunderstruck to find a letter from the lottery people returning his ticket. The letter was couched in the coldest possible terms and was not calculated to make a man's heart leap with joy. It stated that the ticket sent on by Mr. Greenewald had been raised. The figures had been changed in such a neat manner that no one but an expert could detect the forgery.

Mr. Greenewald smothered his anger and went to work to find the sharper who had taken him in, but up to date he has not succeeded in getting any trace of him. The fellow must have left the city on the very day of the swindle, and he has had such a start that it will be almost impossible to find him.

This is the boldest forgery that has been committed in this city for some time, and shows that there are still a

This is the boldest forgery that has been committed in this city for some time, and shows that there are still a few smooth rascals in the community.

A few years ago there were quite a number of forgeries of this kind in San Francisco, and the sharpers succeeded in doing up the lottery ticket agents to the tune of many thousand dollars. They manufactured their own tickets and at every drawing some of these bogus tickets would pop up and in almost every case the swindlers succeeded in getting them cashed at a discount.

A COUPLE OF HOODLUMS.

Who Wanted to Entice Away a Young Girl. William Johnson and Dave Gordon were arraigned in Justice Lockwood's court yesterday charged with disturb ing the peace of Mr. Myers, at 633 Upper Main street. Last week a young girl came to this city from San Bernardino county on a visit to a sister who was leading a life of shame. The girl was rescued by Humane Officer Wright and placed under the charge Wright and placed under the charge of Mr. Myers, a friend of the family. While at her sister's rooms she became acquainted with these hoodlums, who went to Myers's house last Monday night to entice her away, and, on being refused admission to the house, used abusive and vulgar language. The case was continued until Monday. The little girl has not been sent home yet, but will be kept here as a witness against the hoodlums.

The programme this evening was composed of instrumental and vocal music and recitations.

composed of instrumental and vocal music and recitations.

All Argangements have been completed for the opening of the season on Saturday, May 10th, when the band which has been engaged to play will give its first open-air concert. A band stand will be erected upon the bluff, in front of the place where the old hotel stood, just north of the bridge.

The hotels, with the exception of the Arcadia, which is temporarily closed, are rapidly filling up.

Among the new arrivals at the beach are Maj. J. K. Düncan, who is occupying with his family the Downey Harvey cottage on Ocean avenue.

At the Lawrence are Mr. and Mrs. Frank, who have secured the Boeheme cottage; Mrs. W. P. and Miss Cook, of Cafion City, Colo.; T. Thorpe, Pasadena; Misses A. E. Lemon and Kate Sears, Mrs. J. P. Nelson and daughter of Pasadena, Mrs. S. B. Hibbin and child, Miss Kate Harlan, George Jesse and wife, Pomona; J. W. Whitney, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. B. Marshall, Boston; Miss Cora Crandell, Los Angeles; Miss M. J. Gasty, Oak Park, Ill., and Miss Belle Leslie, Chicago.

Dr. Blackington has just finished his cottage on North beach.

Eckert & Hopf have commenced the erection of a branch pavilion to accommodate those who bring their baskets to enjoy a pionic by the seashore.

The following parties have secured locations upon the beach for the coming season: H. W. Stoll, Judge R. A. Ling, W. H. Riggs, M. D. Parsons.

Mr. Steere is building three stores adjoining his opera-house.

The great rush at the Flower Festival has proved the necessity for a hall of at least double the capacity of the opera-house, and a number of gentlemen have taken steps and will before many weeks. commence the erection of a larger ons.

report shower to Mrs. Boland, and was as follows:

Received at the last ball game between the deputy constables and the police and fremen, $816; amount from the former ball game, and to be added to the fund, $94; total, $910. Expenses, including those of the funeral of the $607.

There are still tickets outstanding and collectable amounting to $198, which will make $800 to be given to Mrs. Boland.

which will make $800 to be given to Mrs. Boland.

It was thought best to appoint a committee to collect the tickets outstanding, and on motion Messrs. Ramish, Clements and Smith were appointed to report at the next meeting, May 7th, when all tickets must be returned, with a view of the publication of the names of all those selling tickets.

After the business was finished, the presentation of the handsome silver water pitcher won at the last game took place.

It was decided to present it to A. Ramish, on account of his zeal, energy and devetion to the cause of providing a fund for the family of the deceased officer. The presentation was made by Constable Fred Smith, and Mr. Ramish made a pleasant speech in reply.

TWELVE PAGES.

SANTA BARBARA proposes to celebrate Memorial day in a style worth; of American patriotism.

Pur your ear to the ground and hear things grow. Nature is full of the gladness of the springtime.

THE man is not living who could omplain of this weather. It is the genuine California article. FEMALE suffrage is said to be a failure in Kansas, and there is a strong prospect that the next Legislature will change the law. HENRY VILLARD, the Napoleon of reliroad projectors, is apparently in a lair way to realize his great project of e from ocean to ocean CHICAGO wheat gamblers had an g time yesterday. The mass of eat growers and bread eaters care the whether these speculative nonrs win or lose. SANTA BARBARA boasts of a rose bush 10 feet high and 17 inches in cir-cumference just above the ground. Nature is not content with small things here in Southern California. An important semi-official report of our special health officer appears on the first page—sixth column—top—next to reading matter and first alongside of pure reading matter. See? THE European strikes assumed their most dangerous phase yesterday, in Barcelona, Spain, where the rioters had several collisions with the authori tles, and for a time held their own.

THE season has arrived when the East may reasonably look for the absence of floods, but there is the terrible cyclone which belongs especially to the halcyon spring and summer day

BEFORE the New York Senate commit see yesterday. Croker said he thought it was "a disgrace to this city that a man like Grant should be its Mayor," and gave some reasons for his opinion. many is washing a large quantity of dirty clothes in public just now.

JOURNALISM under monarchial govrnments is not the independent nowe that it is in a republic. Too great free dom of utterance has its penalties. Herr Boshart, for criticising the Duke of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha too severely, was sent to prison, where his hair and beard were cropped, and he had to put on the prison uniform.

In yesterday's session of the Senate Mr. Frye, from the Committee on Comnerce, reported two important bills, designed to place the American mer chant marine on an equality with other nations, and to provide for ocean mai service between the United States and foreign countries. The bills were read a first and second time. Our merchant marine is certainly very sick at pres ent and needs some sort of stimulant

Our citizens have an opportunity to admire the very latest scheme in North American newspaper advertising enterprise, in the shape of a special train sent out by the San Francisco Examiner, carrying prizes for lucky guessers, said to aggregate the large amount of $75,000. The self-"monarch" certainly has the merit of originality in its methods. It deserves a good word, as a creditable Pacific Coast representative of the hetter class of American sensational SENATOR BECK of Kentucky, whose idden death occurred yesterday, in Baltimore, belonged to the ranks of need not prevent Republicans, upor whom he has bestowed many hard mocks, from recognizing the good points which the deceased possessed He came of a long-headed race, being chman by birth. His active ser vice in Congress covered nearly a er of a century. Mr. Beck made for one thing specially deserves the sympathetic remembrance of the Pa-cific Coast—he was a thorough-going advocate of silver legislation. Senator Beck was a powerful debater, a popular man among his fellow-Senators, and will be much missed in that body. Death has been very busy of late many our prominent statesmen. FIRST STREET.

We publish in this issue considerable matter on the question of the opening of First street. The space devoted to the subject is fully warranted by its great importance. We have a number of interviews with property-owners and esidents along the line of First street, also a communication from C. H. Connell, a property-owner in the out what he considers inaccuracies in Mayor Hazard's reasoning on the subject. The persons interviewed all agree as to the necessity of opening the street, but their views in regard to the best means of accomplishing the result vary greatly. The prevailing sentiment, however, appears to be that a grade feasible for a cable railroad vould be an acceptable compromise. There appears to be a tendency on the part of the Mayor, of several Councilmen, and of a number of citizens, to agree upon a compromise grade which shall not be too radical, or entail very deep cuts. Such being the case, both extremes-those who want grade of 1 in 25 and those who want a grade of 1 in 10-can well afford to agree upon some such grade as, say, 1 in 17, which would, we think, be a "happy medium," provided the traffic grade cannot be put through.

What must be avoided is the attempt to make a grade which will meet with serious opposition, and tie the improvement up in the courts, perhaps for years, to the disadvantage of all except the lawyers. It being generally agreed that the street should be opened, let us open it in the most praccable and unobjectionable manner. We cannot hope to move this mountain—or even to build a road over or under it-by faith alone. It will need work-hard work, and the sooner we get to work the better.

UNWRITTEN HISTORY.

Frank G. Carpenter's letter about Gen. Grant, published today, contains unwritten history. It is not generally nown that Grant ever wrote such a dispatch as the one he sent from Mexco in regard to Conkling's return to the Senate; and, had the dispatch got through, it is not at all improbable that it might have affected the New York Legislature to such an extent as have caused his return to the seat he left in haste, and thus have changed o a large degree the course of political history. None of the matter in this letter of Mr. Carpenter's has ever been published, and it is of absorb-ing interest. The picture of Li Hung Chang and Gen. Grant was bought by the TIMES correspondent of a Chinese photographer at Tientsin last year. The crude little sketch of a flying bridge-the original made by Gen. Grant himself—possesses interest, as does all else pertaining to the life and citizen of his time, and the now silent but never-forgotten patriot and hero.

THEY know how to start out and how to push things in the "continental city." The first number of the Chicago Evening Post was a great paper, and made for just four men. It was complete in all the departments and printed on the finest paper-one copy for Mr. Walsh, the largest owner o the Chicago Herald, as also of the new journal; one copy for Mr. Scott, the publisher of both papers; one for Mr. Seymour, the editor of the Herald; and one for Mr. McAuliff, the editor of the Evening Post. This course was taken to afford an opportunity to the pubto afford an opportunity to the publisher and editors to criticise their own and the first Thursday in April, 1891, as work in advance of the public. But it had the effect to excite decidedly the public curiosity, as was shown the next day, when enormous editions of the new paper were sold.

RUMORS of an attempt on the part of local property-owners to have a union depot erected in the neighborunion depot erected in the neighbor-hood of Chinatown are renewed. We have already shown why we do not consider it probable that the two great 30th. It is feared that he has transcontinental companies will disregard their own and their patrons' inerests by moving their main depots back into that part of town. There are, however, several small local roads having at present no down-town termini, which would undoubtedly b very glad to accept so liberal an offer as that which property-owners in the ection indicated are represented as being willing to make.

Some picturesque and alluring literature in the form of classified line advertisements appears upon the first page of today's TIMES; and Miss Grundy's Washington letter contains remarks upon the divided skirt (more accurately known as trousers) which will be recognized as juicy and mouthmoistening. Her remark to the effect that the d. s., not to say the T. t., 'dream of beauty," tells the story as have viewed the exhibition. columns of Jenkinsey description could not tell it. Such a garment is worth going miles to see.

AMUSEMENTS.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—The highly su cessful season of the Bostonians came to a close last night, when a crowded audience listened to a spirited rendition of Auber's Fra Diavolo, with the following cast: "Fra Diavolo," W. H. MacDonald; "Lord Fra Diavolo, with the following cast:

"Fra Diavolo," W. H. MacDonald; "Lord Alicash," H. C. Barnabee; "Lady Alicash," Josephine Bartiett; "Lorenzo," A. E.
Nichols; "Beppo," Eugene Cowles; "Giacomo," George Frothingham; "Matteo," Fred Dixon and "Zerlina," Juliette Corden.

At the matinde, the house was also crowded to the doora. The attraction was Futinized, an opera that is one of the most sparkling and enjoyable in the company's repertory. In it, Mr. Barnabee is seen perhaps at his best, his light comedy vein being infinitely amusing. Cariotta Maconda as the "Princess Lydia," sang and acted with charming case and grace. This young lady has not been heard as often during the week as the public would have liked to listen to her.

Eugene Cowles as the "Count" made the most of his part, and his make-up in imitation of the Russian Emperor Alexander was excellent. Mr. Cowles, with his magnificent bass voice and dramatic ability, is ene of the most important pillars of this

When the Bostonians put Fatiniza on th boards it is a matter of course that people go to listen to it chiefly because Jessie Bartlett-Davis appears in the title rôle. Without her ald the piece would be comparatively tame, in spite of its sprightly music. Her assumption of the double part of "Vladimir" and "Fatinitza" a woman lawies the part of "Can who we have been also because the course of the course of "Vladiuli?" and "Fatinitza," a woman playing the part of a man who pretends to be a woman, is a very clever study, and is highly diverting during every moment that she occupies the stage.

A word of praise is due to the chorus, which has done excellent work all the week. Its efficiency and steadiness is a strong testimony to the discipline of the managers and to the ability and energy of the very able music director, St. I. Studley.

The total receipts for the week's engagement are officially stated at $6014, a result sufficiently gratifying to all parties concerned, and one which ought to put an end to all the slilly talk about Los Angeles being a poor show town.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, May 3.—[By the Associated Press.] J. Biddulph Martin and wife, formerly Victoria Woodhull, had a long interview with Inspector Byrnes today. In an interview this evening she said that she called to see about a sensational article which appeared in Brooklyn paper last November, over Inspector Byrnes's signature, containing alleged facts and reminiscences bout certain notorious adventuresses, with one of whom was coupled the names of Victoria Woodhull and Tennie Claffin

WASHINGTON (D. C.), May 3.-[By the Associated Press. | Smale-Mr. Frye from the Committee on Commerce reported two important bills. The first is to place the American merchant marine engaged in foreign trade on an equality with other nations. This bill, he proceeded to say, is known as the Shipping League Tonnage Bill. Shipping leagues extend along the Gulf, Atlantic and Pacific coasts and the lakes. It has been reported to the House from the Committee on Merchant Marine, and the Senate Committee on Commerce adopted it with but few amendments. It is reported as an original bill. The cost involved in this bill, according to the Commissioner of Navigation, will probably be between three and three and a half million dollars, and would increase, in his opinion, within six years, five or six million dollars. The years, two or six million dollars. The bill, he said, would save the people of the United States many millions for every million it would cost.

He also reported a bill to provide for ocean mail services between the United States and foreign nations and to promote commerce. It is an original bill.

Mr. Frye continued: "I have the right to say that I know that if the bill becomes a law a line of the best ships in the whole world, American built, will be put on within three years between New York and Liverpool. I have a right further to say that I know a line of second-class ships, making 18 knots an hour, will be running between New York and the River Platte in less than three years. I believe, and I have good reason for my belief, there will be, within three years, two lines of steamships running from the Pacific Coast to China, Japan and Australia, competing with British lines now there."

Other Washington News-Scheme to Use Artesian Wells Instead of Reservoirs in Govern-ment Irrigation.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, May 3.- [By clated Press.] Representative McComas of Maryland today reported to the House from the committee his bill to prevent gerrymandering. The report is long, and includes an elabor ate review and discussion of the con stitutional questions involved. It says in part, speaking of gerrymandering at the last election:

the last election:

For Congressmen in Indiana for instance, the majority vote elected three Representatives, but the minority vote elected 10 Representatives, but the minority vote elected 10 Representatives. Such gerrymandering is a crime against the general government and the people of the whole nation. This bill will, at least, compel representation of the suppressed white minority in the white States. It will check reckless gerrymandering in the States of the "black belt," and makes it easier for Representatives elected therein to obtain certificates of election. It will respect equally States rights and the rights of the United States. It permits States to continue to make regulations for the election of Congressmen, but warns States that the national Constitution has been adopted establishing a real and not a shadowy government; that the sovereignty of the boople reposed in the executive and in Congress, and that Congress will exercise its powers to make or alter State regulation of time, place and manner of holding elections for Representatives in Congress, to secure districts more compact as to territory, more stable in duration, and a secure greater equality of population behind Representatives in Congress, These things States have failed to do.

Mr. Tucker of Virginia submitted

Mr. Tucker of Virginia submitted the report of the minority. After a bitter criticism of the bill, it says, in

Bitter criticism of the bill, it says, in part:

In this day the spirit of reform is restive. It would take from States the privilege of arranging their own Congressional districts, as each might think best for its own people, and assign that right to Congress, arainst reason, precedent and the Constitution itself. It would uproot the laws of sovereign States without cause and supplant them with the unconstitutional enactments of a partisan Congress. This spirit of reform must be arrested, or a centralization, despotic and hopeless, will be our destiny. It must be checked, or upon the mournful ruins of State independence will arise a mammoth empire stretching its broad arms from the Atlaulto to the Pacific shore; an empire whose sway will dwarf imperial Rome, boundless in its domain and limitiess in its authority, with no guide but its will, no restraint but its own discretion, so constitution but its fat, no law but its own power; an empire decked with all the gorgeous splendors of centralized domain, and proudly wielding the scepter of its absolute sway over the broken and crouching victims of its ruthless usurpations.

Hinton's plan is to abandon the reservoir system as too cayenalve, and bore artesian wells for supply of special localities at the expense of the Government. It is proposed to appropriate $375,000 for the purpose next year. The work will be begun in Western Kansas and South Dakots, and men are already in the field boring experimental wells.

to buy it and present it to the "old gent" as a surprise, and they did it. They were assisted by Editor McLean and several of their friends, who contributed advice, but no money. The elder Payne accepted the gift because it was really an expensive affair—too expensive, in fact, to be refused. Of course it cost more than it should have, because some of the Payne bidders took a tilt at each other, but the lawyer could afford it, and when it was knocked off to them pater familias came down to Columbus and accepted it.

knocked off to them pater familias came down to Columbus and accepted it.

In 1884 the Cleveland-Biaine campaign came, Mr. Tilden being the Tilden-Whitney candidate. In this campaign Mr. Whitney had a wide field to show his abilitles. He was engaged in a fight against the most brilliant man in America, and for a time it seemed that Mr. Blaine would be elected without the vote of New York. Ten days before the election it was known that Blaine would carry New York unless ways were devised to take from him either the Protestant take from him either the Protestan or Catholic vote.

THE INFAMOUS BURCHARD BOUGHT The fertile genius of Mr. Whitney devised the plan, and his well-filled purse supplied the means to carry it out. Mr. Whitney prepared the infamous Burchard speech, had it in type before its delivery, and paid Burchard the sum of $5000 for the delivery. Mr. Whitney didn't care which way Blaine looked at it, it would be equally effective. If he approved the sentiment he would lose the Catholic vote; if he disapproved it, good-by to the Protestant religious vote. Blaine did not hear the words. In fact, they were so inaudible that I, who stood within two feet of Burchard, could not hear them, and I think now, as I thought then, that the old scamp never uttered them in Mr. Blaine's presence. But they were in type, and were printed for another audieuce, and had their effect. Mr. Cleveland was elected by the little joke; Mr. Whitney took the naval portfolio and the ship-building department, and would have been laughing over the fun of the thing until this time had not purse supplied the means to carry it ANOTHER JOKER NAMED MURCHISON arisen in the Southwest and played the same game on the Irish voters, and thus caused Whitney to lose his job with Mr. Cleveland. "He who lives by the sword shall die by the sword." THE CASE OF MR. CASE.

Only a little while ago, I met Myron H. Case, late private in the Tenth U. S. Infantry. Mr. Case was stationed at Governor's Island a few years, and was in love with the maid of the wife of a prominent railway man. The railway man and his wife had a disagreement, and Case was needed as a witness in a divorce suit. Mr. Case was discharged from the army by order of Mr. Cleveland's Secretary of War, and his testimony was never heard in

He not only learned all that Mr. Tildeu knew of politics, but he so far surpassed his teacher that he could discount him twice over. If William should want the Presidential nomination he knows how to get it, and if he could unite Hill and the Mugwumps he would just about be elected. Indeed I think he could unite the warring factions, for he knows the cohesive kind of an argument to apply to the discordant elements of his party in New York.

The Los Angeles Bar Association held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which the matter of the recognition f Los Angeles county on the State upreme Bench was discussed. There and the interchange of opinions reted in the adoption of the following solutions offered by F. H. Howard, Resolved, by the Bar Association of Los Angeles county, that Los Angeles county can no longer be considered a rural district of the State of California; that the city of Los Angeles is the largest center of population, and the commercial and business metropolis of Southern California, and ranks on the coast next to San Francisco in population and business, and in amount of litigation and membership of the bar. That In it meet the United States Circuit and District Courts of the Federal district, and in it are held terms of the State Supreme Court.

Court.

Wherefore, in view of these and other cogent facts, Los Angeles has a right to demand of all political parties a recognition of the fact that at least one of the seven justices of the Supreme Court should be taken from her bar.

On motion the following committee was appointed, which will select the officers of the association to be elected at the ensuing election in June: J. S. Chapman, J. A. Graves, Max Lowenthal, B. W. Lee, F. H. Howard, F. G. Fintayson and Alex Campbell.

The Colored People Reading.

that a large number of colored men and women nowadays read instructive books. This reading, he says, is of a serious character—chiefly works on history, travels, government and politics. Some devote their attention to tales of adventure and to popular scientific works. They are indifferent to treatises on political economy or finance. The remarkable thing is that they do not care for fiction, or, as Mr. Spofford avers, that they are less fond of novel reading than are white people of the same class.

Make This World Comfortable. [Gen. Sherman.]
And now, my friends, I know that, like all other bodies of men, you wish to make the world as good as yourselves, which is very natural, right and proper. But the first way to reform the community is to reform yourselves. But you have to take the world as it is. It is a good world. It is the best we have now. I don't see any who are anxious to depart from it. Of those who are gone we sing their praises aloud. They don't hear them. I am willing to have a little during my life.

Itos ANCELES, March 28, 1890.

Southern California is emphatically "The Land of Sunshine and Flowers."

At this hour of writing, 9 a.m., the thermometer is 65°, the sun sining brightly, the sky cloudies and the air pure and bracing. Yesterday it was very much the same, with a few light clouds in the early merning. How unlike the terrible eyelonic atormatic visited the Mississippi and Ohio River valleys on the same date. Such storms and atmospherical disturbances are unknown to this immediate section of Southern California. Since my arrival here, on the 12th inst., the weather had been on install Frank Conant as manager of the San Bernardino yesterday.

I met a royal reception from friend Dreher and others, and spent a very pleasant day in Fomona. It is a beau-tiful and prosperous little city.

The climate, soil and temperature of Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties, that cover really the orange belt of Southern California, are far preferable to any section or climate in the best orange belt in Florida, for the reason that under a good and efficient system of irrigation—now readily obtained—the soil will produce oats, corn and wheat equal to Illinois land, while barky and alfalfa, the latter a species of clover, but much more nutritious, are indigenous to this country. The latter yields five to seven crops a year, as all citrus fruits and flowers are of perpetual growth, and all rose bushes, geraneums, fuchsia and heliotrope plants grow up into trees and bloom throughout the year.

This is verily a grand climate and country for fruit, flowers, vegetables and stock, and for pleasant homes. Free from cyclones, thunderstorms, hurricanes, sunstrokes and hydrophobia, deep mud and snoystorms, though there is plenty of snow on the mountains now, and will be seen there until June. It is a strange sight to a "tenderfoot," as all strangers and newcomers are designated when introduced to residents, to stand in an orchard and vegetable garden at the base of the foothills and pick ripe strawberries, and oranges, and green peas, and snap beans, on Christmas day, and while doing so raise his eyes to the top of the mountain peaks to see them covered with ice and snow, apparently but a mile away.

Los Angeles is a beautiful city, settled by active, energetic, intelligent and progressive people. Her streets, sidewalks, public buildings, church edifices and school buildings would do honor to St. Louis and Chicago, and, although not a great commercial or manufacturing center, it is, in my opinion, destined at no far distant day to become the capital of Southern California to all intents and purposes.

It is said that gophers are abundant and troublesome, and the fless plentiful and annoying. Of the former I am, from what I have seen, fully convinced; of the latter, I lack the evidence of a bite.

This beautiful book is the most practical work of the kind that has ever been printed and will be warmly welcomed by our readers. Its author has had a long and extended experience in artistic needlework, and in this volume she has carefully set forth the results of ber study and labor in this fascinating department of art. She has illustrated her work by means of COLORED PLATES, each one of which is made directly from the piece of embroidery which it represents. On one page of the book she shows an outline pattern of the leaves, and on the opposite page is a beautiful COLORED PLATE showing the pattern as it appears after it has been properly worked. This plate shows the exact colors that were used in doing the work, and the outline pat-tern is lettered and numbered, and the author gives full directions for working the colors.

There are Eight of These Colored Plates, as Follows:

POINTS ON PHYSIOLOGY, FEEL-INGS AND FORESTRY.

It Was the Cat"-Dead at That Sunt. Monroe, Dr. Plummer, Abbot Kinney and Other Speakers-Visitors.

The eighth City Institute was called o order yesterday morning at 9:30 by Supt. W. S. Monroe at the Wilson grammar school. The usual opening exercises were conducted, after which Miss Harriett A. Patton, a teacher in the primary department, conducted an exercise in numbers with a class of children. The class manipulated the numbers with facility, and evinced horoughness in their instruction.

DR. PLUMMER ON THE CAT. Dr. A. W. Plummer, principal of the Rosedale schools, gave a practical physiology lesson on the cat. Theory and practice in physiology, he said, are often at variance. The cat which Dr. Plummer discussed he had previously dissected, and the various parts were illustrated very clearly. In dissecting, the first thing to do is to open the skin. Starting from the skin, pass on to the muscles. The manner of connecting the muscular tissue to the bone can be easily shown. The tendons may also be shown in the same connection. The jugular voin, various arteries, the windpipe, the inflation of the lungs were all described objectively. The division of the trunk into its parts, the position of the trunk into its parts, the position of the liver, the fatty tissue with the membrane were shown in their relation to the body of the cat. The lesson by Dr. Plummer was well received by the institute.

Passing still higher, we find that intricately constructed octave called emotion, with its multiplicity of keys, bringing forth the music of joy and sorrow, hope and fear, satisfaction and present time to attempt permanent repairs. Carried.

Trustee Simpson brought up the question of a volunteer fire department, saying that he believed that it could be carried out.

Trustee Banbury said that he did not believe the system would be permanent here, because of the fact that the young men have not grown up together, and therefore work in a crisis would not be smooth and harmonia. A report from the City Attorney upon the law in connection with the board of library supervisors was received and placed on file.

City Attorney Arthur submitted a paper upon the proposition of collecting semi-annually the city taxes. He Legislature the power to provide by law for the payment of all taxes on law for the payment of all taxes on real property by installments. There is no such power as to the tax on personal property. The Legislature has conferred upon cities of the sixth class the power 'to levy and collect annually a property tax." He said that it was his opinion that this power would not allow the city of Pasadena to collect taxes in any other manner than an special charter which allows it the power to collect taxes in such manner as it may see fit. The following communication from the John R. Godfrey Post No. 93, G.A.R., was read:

We, the undersigned, committee on arrangement for the proper observance of Memorial day, respectfully request your honorable body to make an appropriation from the city treasury to assist in defraying expense of the same, believing that it is right and proper that the general management be placed in our order, yet that all good people should join us in honoring the memories of the neroic dead, and that at least a portion of the expense of the same should be borne alike by all, by an appropriation from the public treasury.

The paper was signed by John Mo-Donald, A. Wakeley, A. C. Drake.

It was moved that the sum of $50 be set aside for the above referred-to pur pose, and that a warrant be drawn in the said amount in favor of John Mo-Donald, Commander of the post. Carried.

may 24th, when a national convention of the Dunkard society is to be held there.

This gathering will be attended by about twenty thousand people from all parts of the country, and it is the desire of the gentlemen named to place the attractions of this section of the State prominently before them in concrete form, with a view of encouraging immigration from among them. The Dunkards are a remarkably thrifty people and many of them are looking toward Southern California with the intention of removing hither. What is now desired is a contribution of potted plants, flowers, trees and other productions which will be taken to Warrensburg free of charge. Mr. Masters has interested himself in urging our people to send in anything they can in this line, properly labeled. The car will leave here May 10th, and articles for it may be sent to the Santa Fé depot on that day.

The Shakespeare Club. The Shakespeare Club held one of the most pleasant and profitable sessions of the year at Mrs. D. D. Hill's Friday afternoon. Milton was the only author discussed. Miss Thompson, the president of the club, gave a comprehensive oral sketch of Milton's life. Miss Vore read a paper on "L'Allegro" and "Il Penseroso," and Mrs. Coleman had an essay on the salient points of "Paradise Lost." All the ladies present could not have failed to feel much benefited by the larger insight into the life and productions of the "Blind Bard" gained by listening to these papers and to the general dis-cussion of them which followed.

PROPLE'S STORE,
SUNDAY, May 4, 1890.
Our grand May sales have started off in great style. We told you they would. Could not get the windows in shape to draw up the curtains yesterday until after 12 o'clock, and during the afternoon and evening our stores were so thronged visitors thought they were back in boom times. It looked just like it. Our windows are really a sight. If you didn't get a chance to see them yesterday, come down today or tomorrow. We've got everything in them, from 50 up to several dollars. Every department has a representative or two, and prices are lost sight of entirely. We will have an esormous rush tomorrow, so if you saw anything in the window er notice anythin gin the window er notice anythin gin this list that you want, come around early. In this list that you want, come around early. No telling how many people want just the same thing, and we may not have enough to go round. Everything goes at this grand May go round. Everything goes at this grand May sale—spring goods, summer goods, May, June and July goods, all at midwinter prices. May of 1889 was an enormous month with us, but we are determined to drown it with May of 1890. No dull times with us, We name prices that nobedy can approach, and no buyer can resist. Come early and avoid the great rush.

"MANY MEN OF MANY MINDS."

A Light Grade, and a Cable to Folow-An Elevated Railroad to the Ocean-A Cable with Freight Car Attached.

During the past several days a TIMES reporter has been interviewing residents on First street, on the hills and westward beyond, as to the best way of opening the most important artery of the city. The universal opinion is that the street should be opened; but as to the manner, there are as many differences as interests—or as each man views his interests. The first man views his interests. The first answer every one gave was, "Yes; I am in favor of opening the street, and at once; give us something so that people can get out here, and so that we can conveniently get into the city."

"Do you favor a cut?" was the question asked a small property-holder.

"No; it would depreciate property values and make this portion of the city very unsightly."

"If a light grade, say I foot in 11, were made, I believe a cable road on that street would very soon follow the grade; and while people south of First could not be thrown into the assessment district they would take stock in the cable, and the light grade and car line would be as beneficial to them as a traffic grade," was the opinion of another.

A small dealer, on Belmont ayann and car line would be as beneficial to them as a traffic grade," was the opinion of another.

A small dealer on Belmont avenus said: "We should have some relief to once. Large property-owners who favor a cut or tunnel can afford, to wait, but we cannot; it is financial death to us. The town is growing toward Sixth street; fifty or 100 people a day get out of the cars at the end of Temple street, and we do not have one dozen a day here."

A contractor said: "I do not believe any contractor would start in to work on the tunnel or cut; he would have to take the property for his pay in a great many cases, it would depreciate to such an extent."

"It would be better," said a bystander who favored a deep, substantial grade, "for the city to issue bonds, which would be a lien on the property."

"Before a spade of dirt is showeled to the said of the contractor and the property."

"Before a spade of dirt is shoveled "Before a space of dirt is shoveled out," said a man who owned a small lot on a level, "there would be a batch of injunctions served; the matter would hang in the courts for one or two years; the lawyers would get rich and we would become propers."

years; the lawyers would get rich and we would become poorer."
"I believe if Mr. Crank would say that the company would follow a light grade with a cable road on First street, we would have both in a very abort time." said a man who takes a surface view of everything.
"What we want is a light grade for our present use; let the teamsters wait; after a man's wagon is 'hitched up' a mile or se is nothing to him, and he can go round by Sixth street or the old Sautera Poilin dappane set into the

"The shortest way to solve the problem is by an elevated railroad," said a man "chock" full of ideas, who had recently visited New York. For data applicable to the marring of the interesting land scape at the intersection of Olive and First streets. For data applicable to the putrescent complexion of the fever lake between Olive street and Grand avenue, the characteristic beauty of which is repeated so frequently along the line of this street as to become monotony to the landscape, and in this particular instance, now being destroyed by the order of the Board of Health. For data applicable to the sense and justice of those provisions of our statutes and laws which bear upon the construction of tunnels under streets, while villed the sum of $50,000 damages in etc., without intimation of the imparing of the beauty or utility of landscape or water course. And, again, we look in vain for data applicable to the beauty and utility of the yalleys and hills beyond the scenes already instanced—begging for comparative data of the manner in which said improvement will affect them.

The analogies given by the Mayor are singularly askew or unfair; the sliding hill and houses on "Broadway at the head of Franklin street" are unfortunately at the rear end of residence lots fronting on a hilltop street, where no utility of frontage on a traffic street has ever justified the expenditure necessary to excavate and lower the property to such street, while the utility mentioned has brought about that very improvement of the properties fronting on the traffic street. The cut indicated is indeed a "narrow" affair, constructed by private enterprise, for the sole use and benefit of the Tomple-street Cable Railway Company, nor will the Mayor right, but if you want to keep company with me, you must either come over the fifth, get through it, or travel away round—this to way to court a gird anyhow?" propedled on inclines and hills as well as on the level," was the opinion of another advocate of opening First to way to court a gird anyhow?" propedled on inclines and hills as well as on the level," was the opinion of another advocate of opening First opened.

Said a man of far advanced yet practical ideas: "A cable line with a get their supplies for much less cost of transportation, and teams are from the country could rest and feed at the city limits could get their supplies for much less cost of transportation, and teams are from the country could rest and feed at the city limits, while and in the clay limits, while and country could rest and feed at the city limits, while and the Cahuenga producer is bringing in his stuff on the cable freight car at and feed at the city limits, while along the line. Hypnotic Danger.
The Medical Times and Register ays. "The most astonishing accounts The Medical Times and Register says. "The most astonishing accounts concerning hypnotism continue to be in vogue, though, like the ghost stories generally, they are located at some distant point. Meanwhile evidences of the dangers of hypnotism appear to accumulate more rapidly than the proofs of its value. The capability of being hypnotized is a misfortune; the habit enhances the instability of the nervous system which it evidences. The control thus exerted by one mind over another can only exceptionally be employed for good. More frequently, as there is good reason to believe, deception, rascality and libertinism are apt here to find their opportunity and weakness its desired excuse for yielding. Depew's Advice.

Happily philosephising upon the recurrence of another birthday—his fity-seventh—Chauncey Depew said last Wednesday, speaking of a young favorite of his who married, yet couldn'ts ave a cent, notwithstanding a good salary: "At last he came to me and told me his predicament. I related how, when le I was a young boy, it was the rage in Peckskill to have 'Tis But' box. This are was abox in which were deposited all of the quarters and other pieces which would have gone on the plea of husband or wife. 'Why, John, or why, Mary, 'tis but a quarter.' Well, will you believe it, that young man and that he young woman rigged up a 'Tis But' box, and in a year he brought me $1000 and asked me to buy some sort of an investment bond for him. Every young married couple in the country should have a 'Tis But' box, and if you will but tell them so with my compliments they will be very happy chicks at the end of the year."

investment, and he had no financial prospects, present or future, in the trip. He was offered a big salary by several companies to act as their official in making the trip, but he refused all such offers. He finally consented to be the president of a nominal company, and in this he took only enough in the way of pay to cover his expenses. As a proof of his non-mercenary motives, an incident occurred while we were in the City of Mexico which established this beyond doubt, and evidenced a courage and probity quite as great as Grant ever evinced in his life. The Real del Monte is one of the largest gold mines in the world. It had been operated for more than a century, and it is said to have produced more gold than any other mine in the world. This mine was being worked with good success while we were in Mexico, and its prospects for the future were still great. The company which operated it were anxious to stock the mine and float it in Europe, and they wanted to get Grant to take the presidency of it. An Englishman was the agent selected to influence Grant in this direction, but he evidently understood their purpose, and he did not give the man a chance to make his proposition. Finally the agent called upon me, and told me that he would make me rich if I could get him an interview with Gen. Grant whereby he could induce him to

"What were Gen. Grant's working hours?" I asked.

"When I first began his working hours were from 10 until 12 in the morning. Then in the afternoon Mrs. Jesse Grant or some one else would read to him out of the books to refresh his memory, and he would sit with his notebook in hand and make catch notes. He had a good army library, and knew where to find things. In the evening he would have more reading, and when the family were away he would sit and think and make notes. At this time the most of his dictation was done in the morning from these notes, and he now and then had his papers looked over for certain manuscripts to refresh his mind. The searching of these papers was done by myself and Col. Grant. Gen. Grant dictated very freely and easily. He made few changes. During the trouble between the family and Badeau, Mr. Johnson, one of the editors of the Century Magazine, was shown the manuscript of his first volume. This was, you know, in Grant's handwriting. Mr. Johnson was astoniahed when he looked at it, and he said there was not one literary man in a hundred who furnished as clean copy as Grant. This manuscript is not in the hands of the family. It was not ent to the printers, and it was copied to Col. Fred Grant, Ulysses S. I saw that he was sinking fast and worked all the time I could. I was stopping at the house all the time, and my only rest was now and then taking a walk in the woods. The General was much pleased at my action, but he said nothing about it."

"After Gen. Grant's death," Mr. Dawson went on, "I hunted up all the slips the General had written and gave them to the Colonel and Mrs. Grant, with the exception of less than a dozen, which were personally written

He was very cautious in thing, so as not to injure the feelings of any one, and I remember many collect in incleants of how he cut out sentences which he thought might hurt. He was even hypercritical in this regard and often imagined things might hurt when they might have been left in. Had he been able he would probably made his memoirs comprise his whole life, but as it was he was sjud to be able to finish his military career. The proof of the book was all carefully read. We had four slips of proof, and Col. Grant, U. S. Grant, Jr., Jesse Grant and myself each held a slip while one of us read. Everything was carefully revised and verified, and this by going through the General's

Should it be located along the central plateau in the heart of the Andes, then a line which has been projected north and south löll miles in Ecuador might be used, in addition to about thirty miles to be built in Peru, near Cerro de Passo. A French syndicate is also undeavoring to secure a concession to miles to be built in Peru, near Cerro de Pasco. A French syndicate is also endeavoring to secure a concession in Colombia to build a line from Bogota to Cartagena, and are said to have the capital to construct it; but it may be said that nothing has really been done, and especially so if the intercontinental line should be located on the eastorn slopes of the Andes, through that rich but almost unknown country of the headwate's of the Amazon. From Cuzco, ip Peru, to the railways of Costa Bicz, about twenty-two hundred miles,'s found the one long link which the intercontinental line will be called on to construct.

Frow the southern terminus of the railrads now in operation in Mexico to the northern terminus of the Argentine system is estimated at 4900 miles. In this distance 230 miles are now in operation, which may be utilized in the through line; of the remaining distance, about eighteen hundred miles are already under survey and construction, which, when completed, will leave about two thousand eight hundred and ninety miles to be located and constructed, in order to complete the line that will eventually unite the republics of the western hemisphere.

The following was read just after the ceremony had been performed, with kindest and best wishes, most respectfully dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sabichi, upon the occasion of the celebration of their "silver wedding," May 3, 1890:
Once again love's tender dreaming,
Youth and beauty side by side;
Once again faith's rainbow gleaming,
Hoping, trusting, groom and bride;

To youth's memories fond and tender Time has added stronger ties, And the years a deeper splendor To love's rainbow-haloed skies.

At Coronado.

I wonder how many of your readers fully appreciate how blessed is our proximity to the ocean! What can fill its place or afford tourists and residents so much pleasure and enjoyment, and so much pleasure and enjoyment, and where can its advantages be more fully realized than at Hotel del Coronado? Here one can at in a large easy chair, on a broad, well-shaded veranda, and watch the breakers as they roll and break and dash upon the sand, and when the tide is low the beach presents quite as lively an appearance, covered with groups of gay children, gathering mosses and shells, parties of horseback riders and merry drivers which one can join, are they so disposed.

which one can join, are they so disposed.

The surf-bathing on Coronado Beach is the finest on the coast. The beach slopes gently, and the sand is hard and free from stones and ragged shells, and there is no undertow. The equable temperature permits one to indulge in this sport here the year round. Then there is the large tank in the bath-house, lighted in the evening with its bright electric arc-light, which is very attractive to those who enjoy swiming, and is an excellent place for beginners to learn.

Both bath and boathouse have just received a new coat of paint; they look

During the past week pleasure-driving has been more frequently resorted to than usual. Several parties have driven out to Pasadena Valley, and visited the beautiful orange groves there; others have driven to Pacific Beach and La Jolla, taking a lunch, and spending the day among the rocks and caverns.

The company's nursery presents a beautiful picture at present. The Coronado display at the fastival of flowers during the week was one of the best features there, and attracted particular attention because of its uniqueness. It occupied two tables cut in the form of the two islands, with the sandspit connecting and extending beyond. The tables were edged with smilax, and white stock representing the water and the surf surrounding. In the center of the tables were flowers mostly in bouquets. On the table representing South Island nearly all were roses, with some few rare flowers; while on the other were a great many not found elsewhere in the hall. Among the rare ones were alpine violets, begonias, gypsy filling, white clematis, fuschias and gladiolas. Suspended overhead was a crown, the emblem of Coronado; it was of marigolds, honeymoon riding about the country. They were escorted to the dept by a number of their friends.

The guests of the Hotel del Coronado not only have many ways of spending their time out of doors, but there are numerous ways of delightfully pasing the time in the hotel. The billiard tables attract both ladies and gentlemen as well as the chess tables. The music rooms are seldom without occupants, while the gentlemen, as a rule, appreciate the attractions of the bowling alleys far better than the gentler sex, perhaps because they are more expert in knocking down the pins.

American girls, a good many of them, have fallen into at least one bad habit, a habit that is not consistent all the multitudinous voices with genuine ladyhood. I refer to the habit of chewing gum in public places. And the girls are not alone in this pernicious habit, either. Mature women indulge in it also, and the masticating mill is frequently in operation in public no loss than in private.

It was during the Flower Festival that a gentleman and lady were prom-"Let us have some candy" remarked the gentlemen to his partner.

"O, ne," said she, with a winning and persuasive smile, "let us purchase some gum."

To this, with gentleman-like courtte sy, he acquiesced, and 50 cents' wor th of chewing gum was bought for the fair creature, and her heart was evi dently big with delight as it was presented to her.
"But she didn't chew any of it-

Yes, she didn't clow any of its there," you say.
Yes, she did, then and there, and all the rest of the evening. And how that continuous movement of the jaws disfigured the pretty face.
"See that swell 'un chaw," remarked a wang hoodium. "They keep up a young hoodlum. "They keep up their licks like oxen, don't they?" Well, my small boy, I thought, I do not blame you for your criticism, for the habit is simply beastly.

I was on the cars the other day when young lady entered who wa elegantly attired. From her dress and general appearance you would have deemed that she belonged to the wealthy and cultured circles of society. But she walked to the length of the car chewing gum in the liveliest man-car chewing gum in the liveliest manner possible.

"I saw that young lady this morning and thought I'd give a good deal for an introduction," remarked a young gentleman, "but a girl that'll work herjaws like that in public must lack some of the essential attributes of the true lady. I am not anxious for an introduction."

It is an unleadylike habit, girls It is an unladylike habit, girls.

There is a Christian Chinaman here in town who has just married one of the prettiest and dantiest of Chinese girls to be found in the mission of San Francisco.

I saw them out driving the other day. "John" had hired a handsome car-riage and a spirited horse, and was taking his pretty bride out for an air-ing "allee same as Melican man." They were both dressed in rich native costume, and she wore upon the back of her head a little round silk cap of blue and yellow, and looked as quaint as the cutest celestial doll imaginable. And how they were chatting towards the round of the cutest celestial doll imaginable. ting together, while she cast coy and smiling glances into his face, and he

PART I.

String quartette (Mozart), first movement, allegro vivace assat, No. 3, B, & H. edition

I saw a little bit of genuine Dutch life the other day as I was one in the country. There was the small, cosy house, surrounded by a green patch of land; and there the fat German frau, clad in her short skirts, and with slippers on her plumpfeet, and snow-white stockings, which showed above herankles. Bare-headed, she was out gathering sticks and picking up stray bits of wood. She had a placid face, and every now and then she would stop and look up to the mountains as if they reminded her of the snowy heights of the dear vaterland. Did she fancy that she caught the sound of some leaping waterfall or the murmur of the Rhine? Was she back in Lancy in the harvest fields under the bright blue summer skies of home? I wondered as sometimes she paused in her work, how far over the seas her thoughts had flown, and what the picture that she saw as she looked up to the hills.

LAY SERMONS.

LAY SERMONS.

In the great cathedral of Nature, with its roof of bending skies, its mighty mountained altars and its uncounted lamps of suns and planets now many choirs sing and what mar velous Te Deums are chanted. This vast temple is full of chroisters, of voices which never are stilled; anthems of power; of Glorias in Excelcis, whose melody reaches to the farthest limits of God's created universe. "The heavens declare the glory God, and the firmament showeth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge. There is no speech not language where His voice is not heard." When time was young and man was cradled in Eden, "the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy."

Thus we see creation's morning was one of praise. The melody of the skies and the melody of earth blended in divinest harmony.

Who has not listened to the mighty anthems of the rolling seas, when 'deep called unto deep" and the lightning-tongued thunders answered? Who has not heard the roar of leaping cataract, that apos tle of Omnipotence voicing might of his power; and has not listened to that gentler anthem of praise which is breathed by the low-voiced winds from the lips of milkions of forest leaves singing the psalms of the morning or the hymns of the closing day?

There is melody in the swaying leaf; in the trickling water-drop; in the hum of the bee; in the sonorous voice of the flowing river; in the rustle of wings; in the tide of bird song, and in ture knows.

God's universe is a hymn of praise. The tiny flower, lifting itself the sed, voices in its fragrance the goodness of its divine creation. hold the lilles of the field, they toil not, neither do they spin, yet I say unto you that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." was not arrayed like one of these."
What blessed evangels of purity are they, proclaiming the love of the Infinite for that which is pure and sweet and free from stain. What ministers of humbile
violets, scarce lifting their faces above the sod, yet gladdening all the air with their fragrant incense.

O man, walking abroad in this worldwrought temple, whose symphonies are chanted by winds and wave, and choirs of birds and singing planets, whose harp strings are the columned cedars and the silver threads of cataracts and rivers, all joining in the melodious chorus.

"The hand that made us is divine." Shall thy voice alone be one of discord, of doubting unbelief? At the head of all created things wilt thou stand, "made a little lower than the angels, and yet dare to question, "Who is the Lord, that I should worship him?" If without omnipotent power, out of shining dust, the stars were evolved to circle in illimitable space, obedient to all the unseen forces of the universe, guided by unwritten through their changeless orbits, break ing never the harmony of star-filled space unnumbered though they be, world never jostling world, but circling in unbroken order where they are hung, who weighed them in celes tial balances and adjusted the forces which guide them in their trackless orbits? Make clear that inconceivable myth of blind chance, and explain if thou canst how soulless force works through the eternities unerringly. Tell me how to dead matter came life and motion; How came to it the changing season the seed time and harvest; each plant bearing seed after its kind, year year and century after century? Did dead matter calculate the distances of the stars, and kindle the mighty suns to brightness to light each panetary sphere? Was it dull chance or unreasoning matter that conceived and formed the wonderful anatomy of the human frame, and clothed it with flesh as with a garment? Did it adjust the marvelous mechanism of the eye to the light that it should see, or so form the ear that it should hear? Are you a plaything of idle chance, a thing of yesterday and today, with no eternal tomorrow of existence before you? If there be no intelligent creative power neces-sary to build worlds, and lift the forest trees above the ground; no hand to paint the flowers and mold the spring ing blades of grass; no God to call t life thy thinking and intelligent self, why was not our mother Nature gen-erous to us to the end? Why carved she not for us the home to shelter us she not for us the home to shelter us from the storm, and its furnishing to add to its comfort and its beauty? If she alone can weave the sunset cloud, why not our silken fabrics and our webs of wool for clothing? If soulless matter lifts without a maker our columned trees, why not the shapely pillars of our temples? O, doubting soul, deep within thee there is a voice which you cannot utterly silence, and it proclaims "there is a God."
